Hazel Perry, 17 years old a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Perry of Oliver No. 1 was killed yesterday afternoon when she risked her life to save her two-year-old brother, feble.

The automobile in which the Perry family was taking its second ride stalled on the Pennsylvania railroad tracks at Oliver No. 1 crossing near Uniontown, and the locomotive struck the machine as the girl tried to get out of the car.

Hazel noticed her brother, who was lying motionless in the automobile, she rushed to the car and in an effort to save him, she crawled back into the machine as the engine rumbled into it. She was caught between the pilot and the automobile and killed.

The train ran for 60 feet before it could be brought to a stop. The automobile was hurled over the side of the road and was caught in the wreckage and damaged with it. She was hurriedly removed but died within a short time.

The mother in her anxiety for her children failed to move her brother away from the tracks and was struck by some of the flying debris. Her sister home was hysterical. She had her two-year-old daughter in her arms at the time. Both fell to the ground. The mother suffered no injuries except a severe laceration of the arm when she struck the ground after a sister had shoved him from the side of the rail.

Are Women Overworked.

Yes, hundreds of thousands of them are. This applies to the housewife and mother who struggles on a small income to make both ends meet by doing all the washing, ironing, cooking, making and mending for a large family. There are others, who not only support themselves working in factories, shops, stores and offices, but often have an invalid father or mother to support, therefore do housework beside. These are the women who break down early and are afflicted with various forms of female weakness. Ninety-eight out of every 100 women who have tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have proved that it is a successful remedy for women's ills. For nearly fifty years it has been restoring women to health, and it will pay every ailing woman to try it.—Advertisement.

Famous Teams—"Ham and eggs; fifty-fifty; pick and shovel; better and better; man and wife"—Bread and

Nucoa

The Famous Spread for Bread

The home team is man and wife, and the Winning Team with the Home Team everywhere is Bread and Nucoa.

Nucoa is the ever-sweet rich spread made from the snow-white meat of the coconut. There is no nut flavor, just the true spread flavor—the fresh as-all-outdoors taste that brings out the goodness of bread.

And speaking of the team fifty-fifty, Nucoa goes fifty-fifty with you on price—costs just half as much as the highest priced spread and adds the other fifty to the quality of foods served.

N. B. Try creamed onions in a Nucoa-making the cream sauce by creaming a heaping tablespoonful of Nucoa with one of onion—add a cup of milk, cream to smoothness over a slow fire. You'll find Nucoa Cream Sauce the richest, yet most delicate you've ever tried.

If you know exactly what constipation means, you will find that Kellogg's Bran is a healthy, delicious, and the favorite of all ages, greatly to the enjoyment of eating cereals. Eat at least two table-spoons each day; in chronic cases, four or more.

There are many attractive ways to serve Kellogg's Bran. Eat it in winter with hot milk as a cereal. Or mix it with cereal before serving. Many housewives cook it with cereals, in such case adding two table-spoons for each person. You will also enjoy the milk flavor of Kellogg's Bran when it has been sprinkled over hot or cold cereals. You have missed some of the joys of life if you have not eaten raisin bran. Raisin bran, etc., made with Kellogg's Bran. Recipes are printed on each box. BOY STRUCK BY AUTO

Eleven Year Old Son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Sharkey is Run Down As He Dances Between Two Parked Cars; Street Lights Connected; Notes.

By Associated Press.
SCOTTSDALE, April 27. — Last evening about 8:15, the 11 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Sharkey was run down by an automobile on Broadway. Some boys were playing and running after each other. They pushed between two machines parked on Broadway and the Sharkey boy ran out in front of a machine driven by Cecil Loucks. Loucks, who was driving very slowly had excellent control of his machine and stopped just as he struck the boy. The lad was carried into the office of Dr. W. T. Potter, where it was found that he had suffered a slight laceration of the head. The cut was dressed and the boy walked home.

Pittsburg Will Go Ahead With Daylight Saving, Magee Says

PITTSBURGH, April 27.—With railroads, courts, civic bodies and others preparing to observe daylight saving time, the passage of the Derrell anti-daylight saving bill Wednesday by the House of Representatives will mean little to Pittsburg. It is declared by Mayor William A. Magee, recommending that all citizens observe the new time by advancing their clocks one hour at 2 o'clock Sunday morning, all stands, the mayor said yesterday.

The Penn. Via. railroad will operate local trains on a daylight saving schedule, effective April 28, according to a statement issued yesterday morning by G. M. Sizemith, superintendent of passenger transportation of the central division. Mr. Sizemith said that this decision was reached after inquiry, which revealed that the majority of suburban riders were in favor of this schedule. Other railroads will follow suit, it is said. The Chamber of Commerce will, as in former years, proclaim daylight saving in its official organ.

Babe Adams, in Old Time Form, Holds Cubs in Check And Pirates Win Again, 7-2

McKeechle's Men Take Advantage of Early Opportunity.

OTHER SPORTING NEWS

With Babe Adams showing his old form yesterday the Pittsburgh Pirates again swamped the Chicago Cubs, winning 7-2. The poorless moundman was nipped for 10 hits but he kept them at bay so that many runs were not forthcoming.

The Pirates won the game in the second inning when they scored four runs off Osborne. That chap was relieved by Dumovich, who went to the rubber with bases filled. He was kept there so scattered that many retired the side.

Is Baseball Clown

"The funny man of baseball" is the universal term applied to Nick Altrock, a very valuable asset to the Washington "Griffins." "Nick" with his flow of ready wit has "rattled" many a good baseball player in contest with the Griffins.

Has $100,000 Worth of Baseball in Him

Willie Kamm, the Pacific coast third baseman, has got what it takes to make a $100,000 beauty.

This was the judgment of the White Sox camp followers at Seguin, Tex., after watching Kamm work outland third base.

Even Kid Gleason was optimistic, declaring:

"He's the best infielder that ever broke in with this ball club."

Kamm is a long, rangy sort of a chap, but carries sufficient weight to make him well proportioned for an athlete.

The whole Sox camp is talking about the stuff that Kamm has shown.

He is speedy, goes after the ball with ease and throws from any position. He is a modest, unassuming chap and will make many friends.

Simply Can't Overlook Strong Detroit Tigers

"Don't figure the Yankees out of the American league race simply because of the horrible showing the New York team made against the Giants," says Connie Mack.

"The Yankees are sure to be dangerous. Perhaps the second reverse at the hands of the Giants will work for good."

"In doping out the American league race you simply can't overlook Detroit. Flett will fill the hole at second, while Rigney and Blue are certain to be even better players the coming season."

"Cottles is a fine pitcher, but inclined to be erratic. If he gets away to a good start he may be just the man to make the Tigers a strong pennant contender."

Bob Forward, a Nova Scotia pitcher recruit released by the Pittsburgh Nationals, has been taken on for trial by the Red Sox.

A total of 4,537 horses took part in racing programs throughout England last season. The total for North America was 5,049.

CHAMPION HOPPE IS IMPROVING IN PLAY

Really Remarkable How He Manages to Hold On to Balk-Line Billiard Championship.

It is really remarkable how that man Hoppe manages to hang on to the balk-line billiard championship.

He held it for years and years, and then young Jack Schaefer, a real chip of the old block, took it from him, only to have it won back again by Hoppe the year after.

Then Schaefer challenged him some days ago, and while at first it looked as if he would wrest the title from Hoppe again, he wound up 150 points behind him when the whole thing was over.

It was a match of three sessions of 500 points each, and it really did look as if there was nothing to it but Schaefer during the first evening.

Hoppe played a wretched game. Seldom had he shown himself to such disadvantage.

He was off in his stroke, and what is particularly strange for him seemed very nervous.

When the first night's play was over, Schaefer had finished his first block of 500, and Hoppe only made 277, or 223 behind him.

To most billiard players that would have been an almost unmountable barrier to winning the tourney, but not so to Hoppe.

Whatever happened to him on the first night is hard to explain, for he could hardly have been so sure of himself, hardly have taken such chances as to deliberately let his rival get that far ahead of him.

On the second night, however, he was entirely himself again. He kept nursing the balls against the rail and got 80 caroms in a field less than six inches square.

His high run was 148.

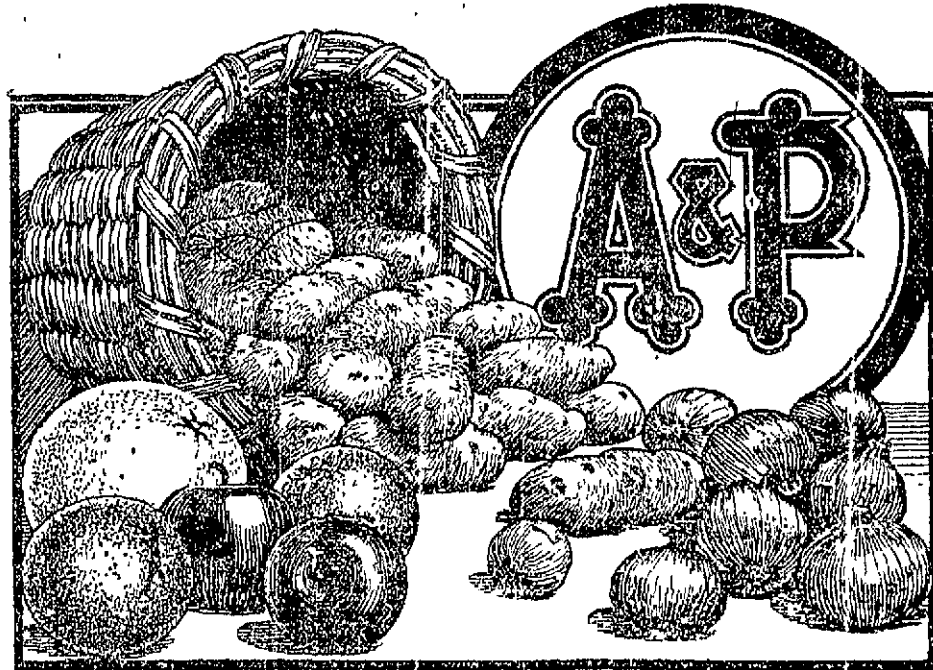

Schaefer during this competition only managed to secure 401 points, and Hoppe actually got 723 thereby filling the two blocks of 500 each for the first and second nights.

Then he started the third and last night with only six ahead of Schaefer, but by wonderful manipulation of the balls, and absolute snuffing of the cue to run out at a time when Schaefer had only a total for the three evenings of 3,341 to his credit.

Who the next challenger will be is hard to tell, but it may be decided by an elimination process.

Yale basketball, hockey, wrestling and swimming teams have all come through, so it will be up to the Bill basketball and football outfits to round out a banner year.

It is terrible to think what would have happened to spring baseball training if the North had lost the Civil war.

Merchants' Restriction Policy Given Still More Effective Application

Set Down Number of Active
Ovens and Reduce Output
5,070 Tons.

FURNACE GAIN CONTINUES

Add 105 Ovens and Swell Production
8,420 Tons; Regional Total Takes
First Drop Since February; Recession in Demand a Cautionary Signal.

From The Weekly Courier.

The merchant coke operators' policy of restriction of production, as a measure to meet changed conditions in the market, was given still more definite application last week. Concurrently the opposite policy of the furnace operators to augment their production was continued. Thus the situation in the region may be said to be both progressing and stagnating, as relates to its output of coke.

This does not mean that fear or uncertainty exists as to the general course the trade is to take. It merely evidences the fact that the merchant operators are alertly watching developments and are determined to keep it well in hand against possible over-production. Incidentally they are as much concerned in maintaining operation at such a rate as will keep consumers amply supplied and the movement of coke from ovens fairly uniform from day to day. They are being assisted in carrying out this program by a car supply which has been consistently regular with some few exceptions. So long as the place-ments average around 96 per cent, as they have been doing for several weeks, even operation moves along quite smoothly as compared with periods when the car supply jumps up and down with alternate weeks or days.

The recession in demand which followed the halt in export shipments through the placing of embargoes by both the Pennsylvania and the Baltimore & Ohio railroads, and the orders of a few furnaces to suspend or curtail shipments on account of contracts, has not been severe and may not be of long duration, but it has served the function of a cautionary signal which the merchant producers have been prompt to heed. This action has taken the form of a slight slowing down in operation and the withdrawal of some ovens from the producing list. Several plants which formerly were running on a full six-day schedule, laid by one day last week and others made no special effort to secure heavily in output. These measures and the lack of a full car supply at plants on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, which is almost chronic condition with them, had the effect of reducing merchant production 5,070 tons last week. This was the first week since the late revival in which the merchants have not made an increase. That a decrease was coming was very plainly indicated in the week of April 14 when the merchant gain was only 10 tons, as compared with 2,400 tons of the week of April 7.

While the merchants were applying the soft pedal the furnace operators were opening up the full organ a trifle more to the extent of adding 105 ovens and increasing production by 3,420 tons. This did not neutralize the loss at merchant ovens hence the regional tonnage curve took a downward turn for the first time since the first week in February, the net decrease for last week having been 1,650 tons.

There is some talk among coal producers about the possibility of a turn for the better which is more probably a case of the wish being father to the thought than it is evidence of greater demand or assurance that price improvement is in progress. Coal car supply is approaching an average of 40 per cent, as compared with less than one per cent some weeks ago, and that is giving movement to a larger volume but conditions are by no means satisfactory to the operators. They have hopes, however, that the opening of the Lake season will be stimulating in its effects.

The estimated production of coke during the week ended Saturday, April 21 was 304,870 tons, contributed by the two districts as follows: Connellsville, 165,020, an increase of 770 tons; Lower Connellsville, 139,850, a decrease of 2,420 tons, or a net decrease of 1,650 tons as compared with a total increase of 1,310 tons during the preceding week.

By inter-district production was Furnace, 181,060, a gain of 3,420 tons; merchant, 123,810, a loss of 5,070 tons, as compared with gains of 1,300 and 10 tons respectively during the week ended April 14.

There was a net decrease of 79 in the number of ovens in blast, 105 having been added at furnace plants and 184 blown out at merchant operations. The furnace gains, all at Brick plants, were as follows: Adairville, 10,000; Central, 55; Davidson, four; Keith, six; Shamrock, seven; United 10; Colonial No. 1, 20.

MARCH OUTPUT PIG IRON WAS LARGEST IN FURNACE HISTORY

At the Rate of 123,810 Tons Per Annum, Almost 5,000,000 Tons
Greater Than in 1916.

Blatt furnaces of the country, except charcoal stacks, produced 3,521,902 tons in March, the largest output of pig iron in the history of the American industry, says the Cleveland Daily Metal Trade. At the rate at which pig iron was produced last month, the country would turn out annually 42,265,000 tons. But all the active blast furnaces in the country in 1916, the year of greatest iron output under stimulus of extraordinary European wartime trade, produced actually only 39,019,123 tons.

The production in October of 1916, the month of greatest previous production, was 3,508,130 tons, or 13,772 tons less than was produced last month. The 1916 March record was made with 234 furnaces in blast, while the 1916 October record was accomplished with 325 active furnaces. Each active stack in October, 1916, produced an average of 10,995 tons, while in March, 1923, each active stack turned out 11,573 tons.

In other words, the stacks which this year broke the 1916 record, produced an average of 1,284 tons more in March, which indicates the record-making furnaces this year were much larger stacks than those which established the 1916 record, the smaller stacks not yet being blown in. Since the latter largely are merchant furnaces which usually cannot operate profitably except in a "boom year" of high prices, this indicates further that some of them yet have not been able to re-light since prevailing prices of pig iron have not reached the high point which would make their operation profitable.

This is another suggestion that present pig iron markets have not overreached themselves by climbing into high altitudes which would tend to cut off buying. Such a period possibly may lie ahead, but the markets today give no indication of it whatsoever.

Questionnaires on Recent Rail Strike

As a part of its inquiry into efficiency and economy of railroad management, the Interstate Commerce Commission has ordered the 51 largest railroads to furnish under oath responses to a questionnaire covering labor conditions in their maintenance departments and the general situation in regard to fitness of their equipment. The companies will have until May 25 to reply.

Each railroad was asked for data as to how the strike of shopmen had affected it, and whether any settlement had been made with the employees as a body. Where no agreement had been formally reached, the roads were required to state what the striking employees demanded before returning to work. They also were asked for information on the expenditures made in fighting the strike, and to give by months from July 1, 1921, to March 31, 1923, the total number of train and engine employees in their service.

Believes This Stomach Remedy Invaluable

November 13, 1921.
The Orth Laboratory Co., East Liverpool, Ohio.

Gentlemen—I have been using Doctor Orth's Stomach Remedy in my family for nearly a year, and had previously used other remedies, but Doctor Orth's Remedy is without question, the best I have found in the market. It is absolutely safe to take and leaves no bad after effect.

Most people eat too much or eat food that does not digest readily. A little dose of Orth's Remedy taken according to directions after any kind of meal you eat will give relief. Banquets and Club Suppers, Lunch Conferences and banquets need not be avoided if you have Orth's Remedy at hand. I know by experience that it will give satisfaction.

I am compelled to send you this testimonial to two in advertising your remedy because I believe every family in the land should have the remedy on hand to use on occasion. Sincerely,
Geo. E. Morris, County Auditor
Office, Warren, Ohio.

FRESHNESS! — Variety! — there you have our Apparel Section's story. Always something new to show you — something hurried from New York that Connellsville may keep abreast of Fashion! Tomorrow will feature garments needed for Spring and Summer wear. You can depend upon them to lift your appearance far above the common-place—to bring you that poise and charm which distinguishes the woman of good taste. For all their distinction, you'll find they are most reasonable in price.

All-Season Suits
with new type jackets
$25.00 to $75.00

The short jacket, the long, slim side-slit suit, blouse; semi-tailored, and braided suits may all be found in our collection.

They are not modes for Spring alone. You can wear them vacationing—on cool Summer days—and later on well into Fall. Which makes the obtaining of one appealing from an economical as well as a fashionable standpoint.

They are developed in a wide diversity of fabric—all of which are durable and smart. Favored colors are navy, tan and grey. Each clever model is distinguished for the excellence of its workmanship. Each is an exceptional value at the reasonable price we ask.

Overplaid Topcoats
—Spring isn't Spring without one
$35.00 to $69.50

As the sketch suggests, some of them tie at the side and feature youth-bringing, graceful lines. The overplaids are carried out in soft colors on backgrounds of grey or tan.

Their fabrics have an undoubtedly English air. They are warm without being weighty—soft and pleasing to the touch and alluring to the eye.

And these coats are such nice things to own—for they do duty on all sorts of occasions and are as comfortable and chic as it is possible for a coat to be. Other topcoats in plain fabrics are $17.75 and up.

New Jaquettes
to wear with pleated skirts
$25.00 to $45.00

You may choose them in Poiré Twill—in Sport Plaids, shaggy Angora, Waffle Cloth and other new materials. They are the season's newest—and one of its most becoming—styles. Worn with a pleated skirt, they form an altogether alluring costume—becoming alike to miss and matron—and suitable for either sports or general informal wear. Every one is something that a fashion-knowing woman will be proud to call her own. $25 to $45.

Pleated Skirts

to wear with these jaquettes come in a number of becoming styles and in either wool or silk materials. They are the type of skirt that will be most widely worn this season. Priced $11.50 to $18.50.

ORDER IN PIG IRON AND COKE PRICES IS NOW REVERSED

Latter Has Assumed Control Held by the Former for Many Years.

PRODUCER MAKES MARKET

Discussing the changed conditions respecting the pig iron and coke markets the American Metal Market recalls previous reference to the position of the pig iron market, the discussion being confined to a presentation of the technical aspect from the viewpoint of the price movement. There had been an advancing market, with changes coming closer and closer together, until suddenly the advance stopped.

There are other viewpoints, says the steel trade organ, as mentioned in the previous reference, from which the pig iron market can be considered. One is the mental attitude of the consumers, obviously very important. White production and consumption, cost of producing, are factors that must tell in the long run, the market at a given moment is made more directly by the mental attitude. The physical facts are taken into account more or less by the traders, the emphasis being on the "more or less."

Events of the past few years have caused buyers of pig iron to pay much attention to the coke market when considering pig iron purchases. They have discovered that coke has a great deal to do with pig iron. That is a relatively new thing and it is curious in a way that the condition should have come about. Before the war, in general, pig iron controlled coke. To illustrate, it was a common practice to make "ratio" contracts, whereby the netting price of coke was determined by the market price of pig iron. The object was for the furnaceman to give the coke producer something extra in case pig iron should go up. Sometimes, though less commonly, the object was to have the coke operator share in a possible decline.

With the rapid building of by-product coke ovens it looks as if, since the beehive oven would remain, coke would be plentiful and heath operators would receive usually no more than the bare cost of production after charging a fair value on the coal. Thus in a way it is surprising that of late coke has had so much to do with pig iron. On several occasions of late the coke producer has simply made the coke market, and the furnaceman then had to try to secure a commensurate price for pig iron. If he failed, that was his affair.

When the pig iron buyer looks at coke he finds that the market lately has softened. Just at the time, a trifle over three weeks ago, that pig iron in the various districts was scoring its best advance, Connellsville furnace coke for spot shipment was strong at $7.50 and it is probable that no great quantity could have been picked up at that figure. Second quarter contracts had been made chiefly at $7.00, with perhaps a fourth of the total at $7.25, and one or two contracts at about $7.50. For about 10 days past, on the other hand spot furnace coke has been offered at $6.50 without finding many takers, and there are reports that $6.25 was done in one or two extreme cases.

The coke decline can hardly be considered merely a little flurry. Flurries can put the market up more easily than down, for a furnace cannot borrow next week's coke to make pig iron with today while it can pick up bargain lots and hold them in reserve. That is one point while it can pick up bargain lots and hold them in reserve. That is one point while it can pick up bargain lots and hold them in reserve. That is one point while it can pick up bargain lots and hold them in reserve.

The pig iron buyer can see also, if he investigates, that the production of pig iron has been running rather high relative to the production of steel, while many iron foundries can observe that they are unable to consume pig iron very freely, having only so many orders or so many workmen, while in steel there are very heavy operations. In the circumstances the mental attitude of the average buyer of pig iron is that there is no great risk in pursuing a conservative policy in buying additional pig iron.

Special to The Courier.

MOUNT PLEASANT, April 27.—The junior class play, "Under Cover," was given in the Grand Opera House last evening under the direction of Emerson Loucks, a teacher in the High School. The setting of the play was made more realistic by the kindness of the Zimmerman Furniture Company, and the Hopwood Electrical Company who loaned supplies to lend to the beauty of the stage setting. The high school orchestra furnished the music.

The play had to deal with the United States Customs, and was a thrilling melodrama holding the audience in suspense until the final curtain when the tangle was solved.

In the case was James Duncan, the desk sergeant, Ray Hanu, Harry Gibbs, the man outside, Louis Graham, Peter, a Customs employee, Lawrence Schmuck, These parts were well taken by the boys. Daniel Taylor, chief of the New York Customs, the grifter about whom the play hinged, was played by Lawrence Lemmon, who was excellent in his manner. Sarah Peabody, "Madam Raffles a la mode," was taken by Barbara Sobray, who showed great talent for the small part that she played. Ethel Carter, "Mile Intrigue," was played by Bertha Galey, who did the part of the leading lady. Michael Harrington, "The King of Finance," was George Nelder and Allen Harrington, "The King's Queen" was played by Lucille Friedline. These two by their sunny dispositions, lent the blend of comedy to the play that was so thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. Any Cartwright, "An Innocent Sinner," was played by Esther Cowan. Lambert, "Butler at the Harringtons," depicted by Lyman Sharp, worked in a most creditable manner, keeping the audience enthused by his meekly movements as the family called him; Nora Rutledge, "The Irrespressible," was played by Lorraine Krontz, and Allen Krontz, in over working something exciting, lent a vein of comedy to the play. Stephen Dunley, "The Intruder," was played most ably by August Croit, who made a most admirable leading man, and whose part in keeping up the mystery that lent so much in keeping the audience enthused was remarkable. No little part of the success of the play is due Mr. Loucks, the director, who at the last minute found it necessary to step in and take the part of Alphonse Seafurl, who was cast for the part of Monty Vaughn, the Amateur Crook. Seafurl was ill and could not take his place. When Seafurl became ill, it was too late to place another student in the cast and all of the seats in the theatre had been sold.

The senior class play, "The Thread of Destiny," will be given during commencement week.

Men's Class Supper.
The supper served by the Men's Bible Class of the Mt. Pleasant Presbyterian Church last evening at its social rooms was quite a success. Music was furnished during the evening by the United Brethren orchestra.

Finger Amputated.
Paul Pedro, employed by the Sagamore Coal Company, was caught in a fall of slate and had his hand injured so that it was necessary to amputate the second finger on the left hand at the Memorial Hospital.

John Robinson's Circus and Trained Wild Animals Coming

"John Robinson's Circus and trained wild animals are coming."

For one hundred years that statement, spoken by your great grandfather, your grandfather and your father in the days when they looked on the world through youthful eyes, has stood for much in the way of entertainment. And now John Robinson's Circus with his trained wild animals are coming to you—coming on Saturday, May 13 for parade that forenoon and afternoon and night performances.

John Robinson's Circus and the trained wild animals are now making the 100th annual tour of the United States and Canada. This year four long railroad trains will steam into the city on the dawn of circus day—four trains of elephants, jungle beasts, horses, ponies, curious folkclowns, spangled celebrities, calliope, bands, cats and the innumerable big show wonders.

Under the John Robinson seven pole big top seating 10,000 people, will be three rings, a huge steel arena, stunts, hippodrome track and an aerial maze filled with the foremost acrobats of at least half a dozen lands. For the kiddies there will be a baby zoo and 51 of the finest clowns that ever wore white chalk.

The John Robinson street parade of over a mile in length, has many novelty sections this year, for a determined effort has been made to make this huge open air spectacle refreshing as well as impressive.

Heavy Damages Awarded For Discrimination In Supply of Cars to Mines

Lost Profits and Increased
Costs Are Compensable,
Says I. C. C.

W. V. RY. CO. MUST PAY

100,272 to Avella and Other Coal
Companies in Satisfaction of Damages Arising Out of Undue Production in Matter of Car Distribution.

Reparation awards, aggregating 100,272 and interest from March, 1918, have been authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission against the Pittsburgh & West Virginia Railway Company and the director general of railroads in favor of the operators complainants in Avella Coal Company vs. Pittsburgh & West Virginia Railway Company, et al., and related cases, 77 I. C. C. 731. The awards are in satisfaction of damages arising out of undue production of coal by the complainants in the matter of car distribution by the Pittsburgh & West Virginia Railway Company, et al., and related cases, 77 I. C. C. 731. The awards are in satisfaction of damages arising out of undue production of coal by the complainants in the matter of car distribution by the Pittsburgh & West Virginia Railway Company, et al., and related cases, 77 I. C. C. 731. The awards are in satisfaction of damages arising out of undue production of coal by the complainants in the matter of car distribution by the Pittsburgh & West Virginia Railway Company, et al., and related cases, 77 I. C. C. 731.

The present opinion says the Coal Trade Journal, based the awards of reparation on (1) the loss of profits a coal that could have been produced and sold but for the discrimination and (2) the increased cost of hauling the coal actually produced. Although the commission rules out certain factors used in arriving at the total damages under those claims, it distinctly refuses to agree with the suggestion of the defendants that the damages be too speculative to justify the award.

The complainants offered as the measure of damage the difference between the sale price of the additional coal that might have been produced, out for the discrimination and the estimated cost of such production. The difference between the actual cost of production and the estimated cost of production, the commission ruled, due to discrimination in the cost by virtue of increased output.

In determining the time lost through discrimination the mines on the West Virginia and Bell lines were taken as a unit and eight hours as the normal working day. The total number of hours lost by all mines as ascertained and this total divided by the average number of mines working each day to determine the average number of hours that each mine would have lost under an equitable distribution of cars. The difference between the number of hours actually lost by complainants' mines and the number that would have been lost under an equitable rating represented the loss due to discrimination.

In fixing the additional tonnage that could have been produced, the average daily output while the mine was operating is used as a basis. This output is multiplied by the number of hours determined to have been lost through discrimination. Defendants, however, contended that this method rested upon the unwarranted assumption that production would increase in direct proportion to the additional time worked. It was argued that mine difficulty would likely increase. "Defendants' contention," as the commission said, "is not proper except in case where the additional time in which a mine was entitled to exceed the difference between the full time allowance of the mine and the use of the time worked, additional time that could have been worked with an equitable car distribution, time lost, and the maximum time that might have been lost on account of additional mine difficulty. In no case was this time of complainants' mines during the period in question."

In ascertaining the tonnage that could have been produced, the balance of unutilized interstate contracts is not considered, and the remaining tonnage, if any, divided between state and federal, for the actual production of the actual movement. Government contract prices are used as basis according to the character of the shipment, and in some cases the Fuel Administration price is applied to contract business where such price was less than the contract figure.

In calculating the loss of profits on an additional tonnage, the complainants used, not the actual production cost, but the reduced theoretical production cost that would have occurred had the mines received their proper share of the car supply. This reduction made from actual production cost are also the basis for the second element of damage claimed. For the purpose of establishing the "excess" cost attributable to the discrimination, the complainants divided their operating expenses into "fixed" and "variable" charges. The underlying theory in the division was that fixed charges would remain fairly constant regardless of tonnage produced, while the variable charges would vary substantially in direct proportion to the quantity output. The greater the production, therefore, the smaller the fixed charge per ton. In determining the "excess" cost, therefore, the complainants took the difference between the quotients obtained by dividing the total charges for a particular month by (1) the tonnage actually mined and (2) the calculated increased tonnage that could have been produced during the same period.

The defendants asserted the results as determined as fallacious on the ground that they included a certain portion of increased charges occasioned through an unlawful act, but from the admitted car shortage. "The theory of this process of reasoning," says the opinion, "is apparent. Defendants can not evade liability."

for damages directly traceable to their unduly prejudicial distribution of such cars as were available under the existing car supply by computing what might or could have happened if a full car supply had been available for all shipping mines. Conceding that they have not shown with absolute certainty the precise amount of loss suffered, the complainants nevertheless maintain that they have shown the loss "with reasonable certainty," which is all the law requires; and that whatever uncertainty inheres in the evidence to a result which flows from defendants' wrongful practices by which complainants have been placed in such disadvantageous positions, and for which defendants should not be permitted to evade responsibility.

"Defendants contend," continues the report, "that loss of anticipated profits is not a proper element of damage here for the reason that the coal which complainants were prevented from mining remained in the ground and might later be mined and sold at a profit even greater than could have been realized during the period in question; that it can never be determined whether complainants suffered damage until the mines are exhausted, and even then that complainants could only be damaged in the event that the mines become exhausted during the period when prices were below those prevailing during the period considered."

"Complainants urge properly that they were entitled to realize higher profits on the coal in the mines whenever they desired; that if such profits were deferred they lost the income therefrom; and that the theory put forward by defendants would defeat any claim for damages arising out of a breach of contract of sale or conveyance, based upon the difference between the contract and market price, as it could in such case be urged with equal force that at some future time a profit might be made which would equal or exceed the profit that would have been made on the contract. Damages for speculative future losses are not recoverable, and redress for present losses can not be denied by speculating that such losses may be recouped at some future time. A loss is an established fact for the time being, while possible profit in the future is entirely conjectural."

Sheep Fleeces Like Robes.

A wool market is held annually at Potosi, in the wilds of Tibet. The Tibetan owners of sheep gather the fleeces of their flocks for Indian tea and rice and cotton goods. These sheep cannot live below 10,000 feet above sea level, and as their wool is in great demand the traders have to bring their commodities on pack ponies, mules and donkeys right up into the heart of the mountains. About the middle of July the traders, each parties, converge onto a high valley some 13,000 feet above sea-level, and there pitch their respective camps. The Tibetan sheep obligingly carry their own wool to the shearing ground, and emerge slim and shorn from a mass of fleeces, which look like buffalo robes. These fleeces are rolled into small compasses as possible, after being wound into tight ropes, and are bound onto the pack animals.

Designing the Great Seal.

Some time ago an account was given of how the great seal of the United States was designed. Franklin, Adams and Jefferson were appointed to select a device on a certain well-remembered day—July 4, 1776, on Independence day. A long discussion regarding this important matter, Franklin wanted a design of Moses dividing the Red sea and submerging the hosts of Pharaoh, with the motto, "Rebellion against tyrants is obedience to God." Adams suggested Hercules and his club while Jefferson proffered the guiding of the children of Israel. Afterward the making of the seal passed into other hands and it was not until June 20, 1782, that the great seal of America with the eagle as it is today, was finally accepted.

The Were-Wolf in England.

A superstitious belief in the were-wolf (an evil creature supposed to be a human being in the form of a wolf) still lingers among the country folk of Hampshire, England. In one district the children are not allowed to take a certain field-path across the downs for fear of meeting this dreaded creature. An old woman of the place when questioned told how her mother and grandmother before her had always warned her of the were-wolf saying: "He looks like a big dog, but he used to be a lady" (other inhabitants of the village show reluctance to cross this path after dusk, and many assert that they have seen upon the downs a large dog which has vanished on being approached. Belief in lycanthropy was widespread during the Dark Ages, when men displaying all the predatory instincts and ferocity of wolves wandered in masses through southern Germany and parts of Italy.

Pirates Loot Rum Schooner.

The schooner Edith Juniper, from Canada to New Jersey with a load of rum, was seized by pirates off the United States coast, members of the crew declared. The pirates stole 600 cases of whiskey, all the cash in sight, and a man they had wounded during a short gun battle to subdue the crew.

Some Operators Have Set $7.50 as Price Mark for Coke for Third Quarter

No Inquiries or Negotiations For That Period are Expected Soon.

COAL PRICE TO BE FACTOR

In Determining Future Coke Contract Bids; Spot Prices Unchanged From Those of Last Week; Coal Is Now at Between Season's Period.

Special to The Weekly Courier.

PITTSBURG, April 25.—Rumor has it that a number of coke operators have set their minds upon obtaining $7.50 for furnace coke on third quarter contracts and that they will regulate production with that end in view. Among operators no definite expression of opinion can be obtained, the common remark being that it is too early to make any pronouncements.

The market itself furnishes no testimony as to what the third quarter price is likely to be, as there are no negotiations in progress and no semblance of negotiations. Furnaces are not inquiring for that period and state that there is no likelihood that they will inquire in the near future.

The major portion of the second quarter contracting was done at $7.00, but there was a fair proportion of business at $7.25 and one or two contracts were placed at $7.50. Also, there was one bid for the same time at $7.50, at the same time that a second quarter supply was taken at $7.25, and rumor has it that afterwards there was a contract made at $7.50, for third quarter alone.

Unless there is improvement in the coal market it will be more difficult to secure prices around $7.00 or $7.50 for third quarter coke than it was to sell the second quarter coke at the price obtained for when the second quarter contracting was being done. The by-product coke market ruled firm at $3.50. That was the firm asking price, although there was not a great deal of business done. A few contracts were made and then there was more business done at $3.25 and $3.00. Now the by-product coke market is easy at $3.25 to $3.50, depending on grade, for spot and early shipment.

Second quarter contracting for furnace coke having necessarily come to an end when the quarter itself began, and the third quarter market being far from opened, the only contract market there is in furnace coke is a market for the remainder of the quarter. This is quotable at $6.50 flat, on the basis of a contract made with the Wickwire-Spencer Steel Company, Buffalo, in the past week, covering a supply of coke to July 1 at $6.50, and on the basis also of quotations of $6.50 made on inquiry in the week.

Spot coke remains at prices quotable a week ago. There are various asking prices and there are some differences of value according to the railroad line on which the coke originates. There has been little demand and some operators having asking prices are not reduced to their lowest terms because the necessary negotiations do not occur. In foundry coke there is quite a range according to brand. The market is quotable as follows:

Spot furnace $6.00 @ $6.50
On contract furnace $6.50 @
Spot foundry $7.00 @ $7.50

The Pittsburgh district coal market has shown no improvement in the past week and is distinctly in the dumps. A few weeks ago the market was regarded as being simply between seasons, the domestic demand having faded and the lake demand not having begun, but as time passes the improvement expected from lake demand does not materialize. Lake navigation will be unusually late in opening, and meanwhile lake shippers are doing little except picking up bargains in distress coal from time to time. Stock coal is accumulating at dock and in vessel and will amount to quite a tonnage by the time the actual vessel movement begins. Sales of lake coal which is all in 2 1/2-inch, have been made generally at $2.25 to $2.40 for steam grade, though regular tonnages could hardly be secured within that range. Steam mine-run in the spot market has been running for several weeks at about $2.00. At that figure it does not bring cost, but presumably the sellers have contracts running at higher settlement prices so that they may be securing a profit on their output taken as a whole. This coal held up very well for several weeks after steam coal got into a bad way, but of late it also has been weakening and has sold in some cases below cost of production. The gas coal operators are supposed to have a policy of leaving their coal in the ground if it will not yield a full depletion charge, but some mines have not observed that policy of late.

The pig iron market continues very quiet as to actual transactions and may be said to be practically stagnant. Consumers seem to expect lower Kidney trouble and constipation ravage the entire system. And in time the entire system breaks down, the face becomes lined, horrible looking bags appear beneath the eyes. Suffering develops into constant agony. Yet it is unnecessary as DRECO, the one best medicine to relieve this suffering, as clearly illustrated in the case of Mr. Clark Vandiventer, a well known foreman for the Beler Hill Coal Co. Mr. Vandiventer gives DRECO all the credit for his recovery of health.

"For a long time I felt run-down, listless, my system was clogged up, poisoned by the backwash from my bowels which were inactive," he declares.

"My kidneys were so weak that it was impossible for me to have a good night's rest. Pains would dart across my back causing terrible agony."

"I read about DRECO and decided to give it a trial in relieving my long suffering."

"Immediately I felt better. And after the fourth bottle of DRECO I never felt better in my life. Even my friends noticed the great improvement in my condition."

"Before taking DRECO, I used to come home from work each night worn out. Now after supper I feel so well that I go out and work in the garden."

"I hope everyone bothered with kidney, trouble and constipation will take DRECO."

It cannot be repeated too often that the stomach is the fountain which supplies every part of the body. If the stomach is sick, the brain, liver, bowels and kidneys are all sick. The trouble may all be felt in one spot. It may be in the stomach itself, or it may be in the liver, or in the kidneys. It will be felt in the weakest place. Wherever it is DRECO corrects the trouble by its prompt action on the stomach.

DRECO is being introduced to the people of Connellsville by the Connellsville Drug Company. Call on them. Let them tell you of the merits of this wonderful remedy. They will honestly tell you whether or not they think DRECO will benefit you.

POULTRY

MAKE MONEY RAISING GEES

Success Can Be Had With Small Numbers Where There Is Low Pasture and Water.

The Toulouse and Hindon are the most popular breeds of geese in this country. The Toulouse is the largest breed, the adult gander and geese weighing 25 and 20 pounds, respectively, while the standard weights of the Hindon are 20 and 18 pounds.

Geese can be raised in small numbers successfully and at a profit on many farms where there is low, rough pasture land containing a natural supply of water. The market for geese is not as general as for chickens, but the demand and prices are especially good in sections where geese fattening is conducted.

Geese need only a house during cold or stormy weather, when an open shed should be provided. One gander is mated with from one to three geese, and the matings are not changed from year to year unless they prove unsatisfactory. When mated, they are allowed to run together in flocks. Toulouse and Hindon geese will breed when about two years old. The females are usually kept until they are from twelve to fourteen years old, or as long as they lay well. Sex is difficult to distinguish, especially in young geese. The gander is usually somewhat larger and coarser than the geese, and has a longer, longer neck and a larger head. The sex is sometimes determined by a critical examination or by the action of the geese at mating time.

Large boxes, barrels or shelters are provided as nests for geese, or they are allowed to make nests on the floor of the house. The eggs should be collected daily and kept in a cool place. These eggs are usually set under hens, while the last ones which the geese lay may be hatched either under hens or under the geese. If the eggs are broody, if the eggs are not removed from the nest where the geese is laying, she will usually stop laying soon.

Toulouse Geese Are Largest Breed.

or than if they are taken away. The period of incubation of goose eggs varies from 29 to 30 days. Moisture may be added after the first week by sprinkling the eggs or the nests with warm water. Goose eggs hatch slowly, especially under hens, and the goslings are usually removed as soon as hatched and kept in a warm place until the hatching is completed.

INDIVIDUALITY OF HER OWN

Different Breeds of Chickens Have Characteristics—Many Do Not Study Their Fowls.

Each hen has an individuality and her own notions and customs. That different breeds have different characteristics, we all know, but many do not study their flock or do not consider it necessary to do so.

Some one suggests that hens which are talked to and made much of will, in turn, be good layers. There is a measure of truth in this; certainly fowls treated with kindness will do better work than those which are never talked to and are frightened at the approach of any one. But don't get the idea that kindness will produce eggs. A hen possessing no laying instinct worthy of mention will never repay one's affection by eggs if there are no eggs bred in her.

Secure the breed and strain, add to this a study of the flock, and to this companionship and care, and the results will be satisfactory.

RATION FOR EGG PRODUCTION

Best Feed Is That Suited to Local Conditions—Prepared Material Is Economical.

In feeding for egg production, the economical feeder wishes to use the grain he has. The best ration is the ration that best suits the local conditions. If one must buy all the feed, then he will probably find the ready prepared scratch feeds and mashies as cheap as buying the varieties of grains and mixing his own. The agricultural colleges have worked out rations which are practical for farm flocks.

Early Britons Used Coal.

Tools and clinders found near the ancient Roman wall in England indicate that the Britons used coal previous to the Roman invasion in 55 B. C. By the English people it was first used as a fuel in 852, and, in the blast furnace for the production of iron, in 1612. In America, those sturdy Jesuit missionaries, Joliet and Marquette, discovered coal near the present site of Utica, Ill., in 1673. That the Indians were acquainted with numerous coal beds and actually mined those black "stones" instead of firewood, there can be no doubt.

Department of Mines To Department of Labor

The Pincher administrative code, which reorganizes the state government, places the State Department of Mines in the Department of Labor and Industry, making it the mining branch of that department. The code was introduced in the Senate recently.

A section of the code gives the mining branch the same powers the Mining Department now has under existing laws. The examining boards of the Mining Department are placed under the Department of Public Instruction. The section creates a State Mine Inspectors' Examining Board which takes over the duties of the examining boards in both the anthracite and the bituminous districts.

Living Memorial to Theodore Roosevelt

Pinchot Says It Has Potentialities of Moral Leadership Lacking Since Roosevelt Died

The announcement recently made by Gifford Pinchot, Governor of Pennsylvania, and close friend of Theodore Roosevelt, of the establishment of a "living memorial to Roosevelt" has created wide-spread interest among followers of "I R" throughout the country. Pinchot is chairman of the Committee on the Perpetuation of Roosevelt's Ideals, a part of the Roosevelt Memorial Association, and he made the announcement in connection with a meeting of his committee in the State Capitol at Harrisburg.

Potentialities of Leadership
"When Roosevelt died," said Governor Pinchot, "the American people showed in a manner not to be misunderstood that they wanted some form of living memorial in addition to a monument. I am proud and happy to announce that this living memorial has been created. The Roosevelt Memorial Association has developed a special organization whose object will be to bring to the generations to come the message of Roosevelt's life. This organization is already issuing various publications, from biographical sketches of Roosevelt for school children to historical works intended mainly for scholars. But it will do more than this. Through State and local committees it will endeavor to impress the importance of the personal and civic ideals of Roosevelt upon the educational system of the country. Through prize competitions it will stimulate children to study his life. Through special awards it will honor those who have done conspicuous service to the nation in carrying on the ideals for which Roosevelt contended. I believe this living memorial to Roosevelt has in it the potentialities of a moral leadership which the nation has not known since the death of Roosevelt."

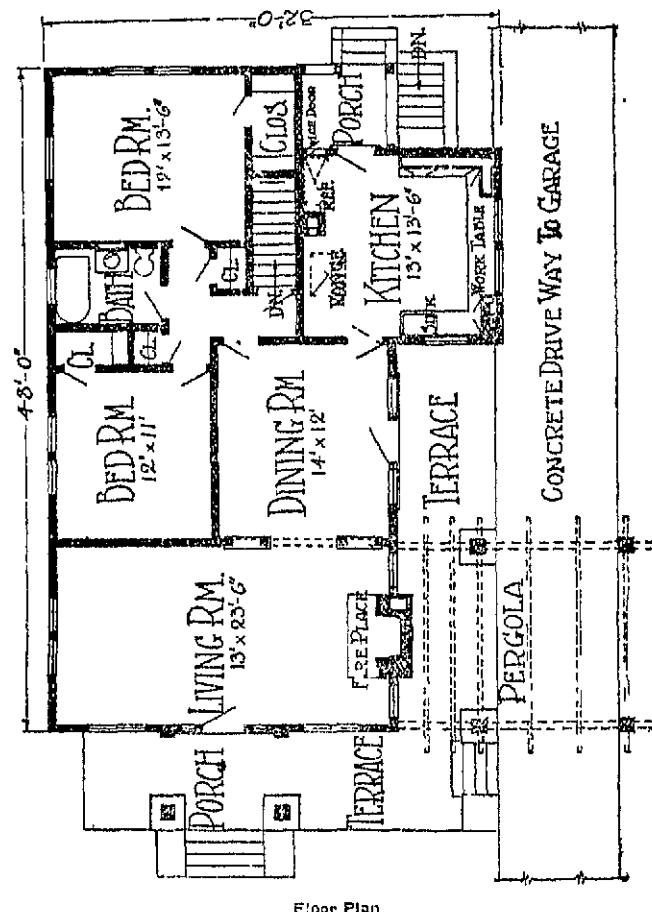

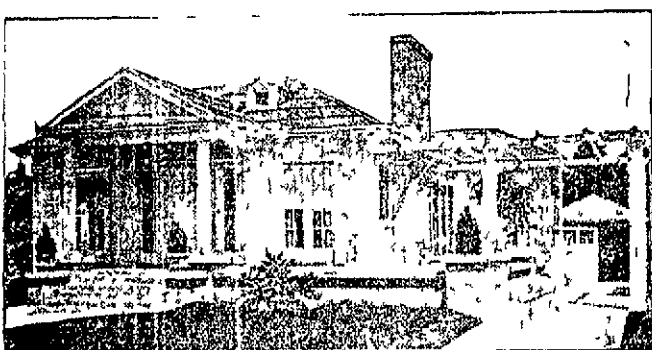

To Greater Activities
"A great Roosevelt library and museum, which will be lodged in Roosevelt House at 28 East 20th Street, New York have already been established," said Hermann Hagedorn, director of the Roosevelt Memorial Association, "and our research work is a going concern. That work has received such a start that it would be harder to stop than to keep it going. We are now moving on to greater activities. We want to enlist the aid of every true follower of Roosevelt in the country in spreading Roosevelt's principles of moral character, civic service and single-minded devotion to American institutions. The question 'What can one man do?' was answered for all time by Roosevelt himself. Every man and woman, every girl and boy who believes in the principles in which Roosevelt believed, can, in his own community, to some degree, help in establishing those principles forever as a part of the American character. If he wants guidance, the Roosevelt Memorial Association is there to give it to him."

Gifford Pinchot, Governor of Pennsylvania, who proposes Living Memorial to Roosevelt.

The headquarters of the Roosevelt Memorial Association are at One Madison Avenue, New York.

A. Severance of Minneapolis, Albert Shaw, editor of the Review of Reviews, Oscar S. Straus, Secretary of Commerce and Labor in President Roosevelt's Cabinet, Mark Sullivan, E. A. NICE BUNGALOW OF CALIFORNIA TYPE

Pretty Home of Frame Construction for Suburbs.

EXTERIOR IS VERY PLEASING

Gives Convenience and Efficiency of Apartment Without its objectionable Features—Adapted to Small Family.

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD
Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give plans FREE OF CHARGE on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building for the reader of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer he is without doubt the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Out in California the most popular type of home is the bungalow. Set in the semi-tropical surroundings that are found around Los Angeles and to the south of that city these small homes usually of frame with either board or stucco walls are ally attractive. Because of the climate however the construction is rather flimsy as there is no need for protection from the cold.

Architects in all other parts of the country have taken the California idea and a trend there plans so that bungalows built of all sorts of materials have become a most popular type of home. This building for the colder sections are well constructed, set on a good foundation of masonry or concrete and have a modern full basement to accommodate the heating plant provide storage space and for

Piles

Can Be Cured from the Outside

It is a fact that piles seldom cure by the use of internal operations. The only way to cure them is by the use of the external operation. The external operation is a simple one and can be performed by the patient himself. It is a simple operation and can be performed by the patient himself. the laundry.
When closely analyzed the bungalow and the apartment are practically the same thing. Floor plans for the one approximate the floor plans for the other. The apartment building is really a series of bungalows set one upon the other. However in doing this the attractiveness of the bungalow is lost. Also there is little opportunity to beautify the surroundings and gone is the feeling of "home," that is found in a single house.

What might be termed a most unusual design for a frame bungalow is shown in the accompanying home building design. Here is a five-room modern home in which are all the conveniences, surrounded by a terrace. The combination of hip and gable roof, the pergola and the emporium siding all combine to add to the attractiveness of this bungalow.

The living room of this bungalow as shown by the floor plans, extends the width of the house. It is 13 feet wide and 23 feet 6 inches long. At one end is an open fireplace. The dining room is connected with the living room by a colonnade opening. This room is 12 by 14 feet and opens onto the terrace at the side. Back of the dining room is the kitchen 13 by 13 feet 6 inches. This room arrangement places all of the daytime activities of the housewife in a series of rooms each connected with another. A short hall, reached through the dining room connects the two bedrooms one 11 by 12 feet, directly back of the living room, and the other 12 by 13 feet 6 inches at the corner of the building between the two bedrooms is the bathroom.

How convenient this arrangement is can be readily seen by a study of the floor plan. Also the amount of closet room built in kitchen fixtures and other good features of the design will be noted.

For a small family wanting a pretty little home this design is appealing. Here are the combination of exterior beauty and interior comfort and convenience. The house itself is not large, 32 by 48 feet, but there is sufficient room for the average family. Built in the suburbs of a city or in a smaller town where building sites are not expensive this home may be surrounded by lawn and flower gardens and will have the appearance of a real home.

There are many bungalow designs from which the prospective home builder may choose a plan that suits his needs. His pocketbook and the site upon which he is going to erect his home. The bungalow may be of frame, brick or hollow building the 12 of frame and the outside walls stuccoed over metal lath and lasting construction is secured and the home will be one of which the builder will be proud.

Fast Traveling Animals

There is a tableland in Utah smooth enough to allow a motorcar to follow a rapidly around at its own speed. And here some tests have been made out which prove that although cars cannot run as fast as birds can fly their speed is a long way ahead of man's.

An elk made a spurt of 52 miles an hour for the first three miles, then dropped to 29, a prairie wolf did 38 miles an hour and then 35, a coyote which was put up and chased led off with 45 miles an hour for two and a half miles and then dropped to a steady 30 that it seemed to be able to keep up until further notice. The fastest animal of those tested was an antelope which covered two and a half miles at the rate of 62 miles an hour.

HALF A MILLION MILES OF NEW WIRE WILL BE ADDED TO THE BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM IN PENNSYLVANIA THIS YEAR

THAT'S an increase of twenty per cent. in the total Bell wire mileage in the state.

This new wire alone would encircle the earth at the equator twenty times. It would reach the length of the state of Pennsylvania more than 1600 times.

More wire was placed in 1922 than in any previous year. We will place nearly twice as much in 1923.

This is one phase of our effort to meet the demand for telephone service in Pennsylvania.

warrant can you give me that you—that no harm will befall me if I go farther?"

"None, Miss Hammond, except that I've seen your face."

CHAPTER II

A Secret Kept. Because of that singular reply Madeline found faith to go farther with the cowboy. But at the moment she really did not think about what he had said. Any answer to her would have served if it had been kind.

As she walked on into the windy darkness, much relieved that he had answered as he had, reflecting that he had yet to prove his words true, she began to grasp the deeper significance of them. There was a revival of pride that made her feel that she ought to seem to think at all about such a man.

Presently Madeline's guide turned off the walk and rapped at a door of a low-roofed house. "Hello—who's there?" a deep voice answered.

"Gene Stewart," said the cowboy. "Call Florence—quick!"

Thump of footsteps followed, a tap on a door, and Madeline heard a woman exclaim: "Gene! here when there's a dance in town! Something wrong out on the range? A light flared up and shone bright through a window. In another moment there came a patter of soft steps, and the door opened to disclose a woman holding a lamp.

"Gene! Al's not—" "Al is all right," interrupted the cowboy. Madeline had two sensations then—one of wonder at the note of alarm and love in the woman's voice, and the other of unutterable relief to be safe with a friend of her brother's.
